The participants of the group were given a form to fill in by the group leaders. Then they had the opportunity to talk and become part of a communication thread with everyone in their group and get to know each other better. The objectives of the cluster were networking, finding common interests, and potential opportunities for collaboration.

This will ensure that the cluster participants can keep in touch, exchange information and possibly collaborate in the future.

Notes and remarks

- Participants were very enthusiastic, and willingly shared ideas and objectives.

Next steps

- The group leaders will follow the communication in the email thread and the possible future thematic clusters that might emerge from there.
